AN OVERVIEW OF THE COLLEGE

Birmingham-Southern College.

The name is synonymous with academic excellence throughout Alabama, the South, and the United States. Ever since the College's founding in 1856, it has been the goal of 'Southern to provide the best academic opportunity for academic growth for its students. This attempt to promote academic growth was recognized in 1937 by the national academic honor society, Phi Beta Kappa. Dr. Neal Berte has continued this high standard of academic distinction during his tenure as President, and the fruits of his labor can be seen in the new Olin Computer Science and Mathematics Center now under construction.

Along with academic growth the College also endeavors to promote moral and social growth. Being associated with the United Methodist Church, BSC offers a full range of religious services, group Bible studies, and Christian interaction groups.

The college also has on its staff a full-time Chaplain to aid students with any spiritual problems that they may have.

Part of a college education is social growth, and Birmingham-Southern has not forgotten this. The College has a very active Greek system, and sponsors three student publications: THE HILLTOP NEWS, QUAD, and SOUTHERN ACCENT. The SGA sponsors band parties, film and lecture series, and other activities designed to be accessible and attractive to all students. Whether it is singing in the Concert Choir, the Southern Chorale, participating in a theatre production, working with the Young Democrats or College Republicans, or joining in a heated discussion in the Debate Society, there is something for every student at 'Southern to use as a vehicle of social expression.

Within the crest of Birmingham-Southern College is found the phrase "Pro Christo Et Republica." It is this philosophy coupled with the concept of a liberal arts education that is the driving force behind this institution of higher learning. Birmingham-Southern College has been successful for the last 129 years, and it will continue to successful for many more.

'SOUTHERN AT ITS BEST

'SOUTHERN AT ITS BEST

The men and women of Birmingham-Southern's faculty care about the students, and it shows. An exceptional faculty is one of the main advantages of small colleges in general, and of Birmingham-Southern in particular. In CRI-SIS IN THE CLASSROOM, Charles Silberman writes that a teacher "must do more than simply start where his students are; he must also take them somewhere else." 'Southern's faculty puts extra effort to take us somewhere.

In an era of large universities that sacrifice teaching on the altar of research, Birmingham-Southern remains an institution of learning. A faculty dedicated to educating students makes a school more than a diploma factory.

'Southern's professors are certainly accomplished in their fields of study. Over three-fourths have doctorates or the highest degree in their field. But 'Southern's faculty also possess an enthusiasm for the spread of knowledge that epitomizes the spirit of liberal education at its finest.

Our faculty is the thread of continuity that runs through the college year after year. While students pass through, the professors remain to educate. In the body of the college the students are the blood, but the faculty is the heart. Our faculty is Birmingham-Southern at its best—caring about the students and spreading knowledge.

DORM LIFE

An important aspect of college most BSC students have to adjust to is dorm life. Dorm life is finding creative new ways to barely obey the opaque container rule, and discovering the virtues of late night Rocky's pizza. It is learning to stretch your patience to unprecedented heights when your neighbor insists on playing his favorite Beatles song at least fifty times a day. Dorm life is a box of No-Doz and a nearby coffee pot for the Oh-my-God-I-have-eleven-hours-to-study-for-my-exam blues. It is inviting the gang over to watch MASH when everyone is bored and broke, and coping with the perils of an option three dorm when you have an option four romance. Dorm life is a frisbee session on the quad and a spur of the moment decision to hit Southside or take in a late movie or make a 2 a.m. Chinese food run. It is a scavenger hunt through the halls for various components of a mixer outfit. Dorm life is getting to know and accept a lot of other people—their habits, quirks, and good and bad points. It is looking out for the other guy—cheering up the downhearted, sharing a laugh, keeping a secret. Most of all, though, it is the creator of the strongest bonds and the closest of friends—between people who live with one another during four of the most important years of their lives.

ACADEMIC SURVIVAL

ACADEMIC SURVIVAL

Studying, especially alone, is not a favorite activity of many people. It is probably lucky if it makes the top fifty favorite activities. That's understandable; few people should enjoy dredging through mountains of material that is sometimes about as interesting as watching grass turn brown and die.

Despite an intrinsic aversion to studying, most students spend a large portion of their time studying. At 'Southern, academic survival demands it. Your friends will make you work even when they aren't willing to do it themselves.

Memories of epic studying are vital to experiencing college fully. Hundreds of Krispy Kreme runs to stay awake just a few more hours and black, stomach-hurting U-Tote-M coffee have been good interludes in many studying jaunts. Waking up with your head on the book you were supposed to have read happens far too often to get all the work done. All-nighters are inescapable memories of college. No matter how disgusted anyone is with even the concept of studying, if you survive academics at 'Southern, the fact is that you have studied meticulously and know you have. Your memory will never let you deny it.

—LANDIS SEXTON

CAMPUS SPORTS

Whether they want to participate directly or watch, all Birmingham-Southern students have the opportunity to be involved in campus sports. For the spectators there are intercollegiate sporting events throughout the entire school year. 'Southern boasts talented athletes that comprise top intercollegiate baseball, soccer, basketball, and tennis teams. All these teams have records that not only please the team members, but make the entire campus proud to have them wear black and gold. For the more active students who don't have the chance to play in varsity sports, 'Southern sponsors an extremely competitive intramurals program. The almost never-ending season of intramural sports gives all students the chance to break the study routine and have a good time. College should teach students not only to read, listen, and study, but just as importantly to interact with other people; and sports are an excellent way to learn. Evidently, BSC realizes the vital role that sports play in the college experience.

THE FINAL YEAR

THE FINAL YEAR

Over one-fifth of the population of Birmingham-Southern is afflicted with a malady known as senioritis. Symptoms of this not-so-rare disease are lethargy, drunkenness, and pessimism. It sets in sometimes around or before the start of one's senior year. In most cases, though, it has been detected in some students as early as the second semester sophomore year. Students suffering from senioritis display nervous tension caused from taking so few classes (the average is two) while simultaneously complaining bitterly of having to get out of bed for their 2:50 class. When they finally do get out of bed, seniors suffer from constant irritability caused by an increased nocturnal consumption of alcohol. The prognosis for those suffering from this dreaded disease is "graduation and the real world or professional schools will cure all". One thing that we forgot to mention was senior apathy, but they don't care.

MISS B-SC

The 1985 Miss BSC contest was held on February 15 in the College Theater. Ten Contestants competed in swimsuit, evening gown, interview, and talent competitions. Entertainment was provided by 1984 Miss Alabama, Tammy Little, and the Miss Alabama Review. Angela Callahan was named Miss BSC 1985 and was crowned by Leela Sistla, last year's winner. Angela won a $500 scholarship and the privilege of representing Birmingham-Southern in the 1985 Miss Alabama competition in June. First Runner-Up and the winner of the talent competition was Cynthia Lamar. Second Runner-Up was Susan Hartsell, Third Runner-Up was Dana Terry, and the Fourth Runner-Up was Donna Moseley.

FACULTY

The Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences offers three areas of study: Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology. In addition to these majors, an interdisciplinary major in Human Resources Management is available in the Adult Studies Program. Students may apply for a Dual Degree which would allow them to obtain a Bachelor's and a Master's degree in five years. Also available are major programs that combine disciplines within the Division with studies in other areas.

A Political Science student is assured a wide range of options for study. This reinforces the liberal arts education background needed for students interested in careers in law, government, and other related fields.

A Sociology student has a choice of two courses of study: Level I prepares students for entering occupations or professional schools upon graduation. Level II is intended for sociology students who plan to continue their education of sociology in graduate school. Graduate degrees in sociology typically prepare students for careers in teaching and research in colleges and universities, private firms, and government agencies. Psychology is also a major for those who continue their education in graduate schools and for those going into a large variety of careers which require an understanding of the principles of human behavior.

FINE AND PERFORMING ARTS

FINE AND PERFORMING ARTS

The Division of Fine and Performing Arts has been an integral part of the liberal arts education at Birmingham-Southern for many years. Those who have graduated from BSC with a major in the fine arts have gone on to careers of national and even international acclaim.

The division's four different areas—Theatre Arts, Music, Art, and Dance—provide an outlet for creativity for non-majors as well as majors. The Art faculty teach students to function not only as observers but as participants, while the Music faculty introduces non-majors to music through faculty and student recitals, choir services, and also through guest artists in concert. The Theatre department offers performances not only on the mainstage, but also in Theatre One, a small "black-box" theatre for experimental productions; all performances are open to the public. The Dance department has become an increasingly popular one in recent years. Courses offered range from ballet to jazz to modern dance exercises. The annual Spring Dance Performance gives the top dancers a chance to perform many classical and modern pieces.

ALLISON HARDY

The Department of the Humanities, consisting of the divisions of English, the Classics, History, Modern Languages, Philosophy, and Religion, provides the heart of the liberal arts education. In addition to the majors offered in the aforementioned divisions, majors are available in political science and history, religion and philosophy, English and history, in foreign services (political science, history, and foreign languages) and international business (economics, business administration, and foreign languages). Also, students are able to develop majors in response to their own personal interests. The humanities are essential for the liberal arts education as they aid in one's development of imagination and creative skills providing the ability to cope with problems and challenges which face students now and in the future. They also increase our potential for self-realization and service within our community and world.

SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS

Birmingham-Southern's Division of Science and Mathematics is one of the best staffed and equipped departments of its kind in the region. Majors are offered in many different fields ranging from Biology to Computer Science to Astronomy. This year, everyone on campus is especially proud of the Olin Foundation Computer Science Building which is now under construction. When completed, this new facility will enable the Administration to expand course offerings in computers and better serve Birmingham-Southern's student body.

NURSING

Although the Nursing program at 'Southern is new, it has quickly grown to be one of the largest programs on campus. A student wishing to major in nursing must complete the prerequisites during his or her freshman year. These courses include general science classes, such as biology and chemistry, as well as the recommended general education requirements of psychology and sociology. During their sophomore year, nursing students begin their clinicals, nursing labs conducted at Brookwood Medical Center. These sessions are held at the hospital at least once a week and last for six hours. Along with a full day of classes, clinicals make for a very hectic schedule.

Of course, this seems like a lot of hard work, but any BSC nursing student will tell you that it is well worth the added effort. One of the highlights of this year for the nursing program was the Self Care Fair, consisting of booths concerning high blood pressure, P.M.S., nutrition, contraception, and first aid for baby sitters. On May 3, the nursing students conducted the fair on campus and on May 4, they moved the Fair to Five Points West Mall. With such activities as the Fair, and lectures sponsored by the Student Nurses Association, the program is becoming an important part of health information at BSC as well as an outstanding teaching program for nursing students.

EDUCATION

The Education Department at Birmingham-Southern offers a variety of experiences for all students. Courses in education range from Children's Literature to Computers in Education. The Education Department offers degrees in Early Childhood, Elementary, and Secondary Education, plus majors in Educational Services and Christian Education. The "teaching majors" prepare students to become certified to teach in public schools. Education majors at 'Southern have a high rate of success in employment circles. The major in Education Services prepare students for professional service careers such as occupational therapy, educational psychology and social work. The major in Christian Education is an inter-disciplinary major in education and religion, which prepares the student for a career in education within the Church setting.

WORLD EVENTS

After years of civil war, elections were held in El Salvador in 1984. Jose Napoleon Duarte was elected president in what international observers called the most open and free election in that country in 50 years. The photo (top left) shows a soldier reading a newspaper at the Rio Lempa checkpoint near San Salvador, the headline was "There is faith in the Electoral Process."

The United States Marines arrived in Beirut in 1982. Lebanon was torn by civil war and foreign invasion. The Marines left in 1984 (top right) after more than 260 of them had died.

"You're a fascist!"

"Of course I am, compared to a neo-liberal communist like you."

So the exaggerations fill the air as November 6 grows closer. Friends, roommates, even strangers are eager to convince each other that theirs is the best candidate. Whether Democrat, Republican, or Independent, most students had a definite opinion about at least one political race. Although the insults and name-calling were mostly in jest, the campaign work that many students undertook was taken very seriously.

Here at 'Southern, the College Republicans sold FritzBuster T-shirts, passed out campaign literature, and even went door-to-door to further their cause. Along with their on-campus work, the Republicans also worked at the local headquarters of Ronald Reagan, Albert Lee Smith, and Jabo Waggoner. The Young Democrats were also quite visible both on campus and off. When Walter Mondale came to Birmingham, the YDs were on hand to welcome him. They also provided absentee ballot applications for those who couldn't get home to vote.

Was it worth the work? The Republicans can boast about President Reagan's re-election and the several new Republican seats in the U.S. House. The Democrats can also claim victory in the re-elections of Senator Howell Heflin and Representative Ben Erdreich. Whether their candidates won or lost, members of both groups got a feeling of accomplishment from all their work.

THE FIRST WEEK

Before the fall semester begins at Southern, the first few days of activity revolve around registration. This is always an unsettling time for new students, but many upperclassmen help to make the first week easier. The most visible of these are the sophomore members of the Triangle Club who assist the new students in everything from moving luggage to handling registration red tape.

As soon as moving in is completed, and all the parental goodbyes are said, new students are faced with a whirlwind of seminars, convocations, and meetings designed to help them start college on the right foot. The most obvious symbols of registration are the handi-packs of information that each student loves and carries with him everywhere. Dinners and parties help everyone meet new friends, and Rush enables all of its participants to meet the upper-classmen.

Finally, as registration and orientation end, everyone is beginning to settle down to their new home. The course is set for the new students, and the end of their first week at BSC begins their journey through the world of higher education called college.

SPEAKERS

The Political Science Department hosted Senator Paul Sarbanes to speak to the Freshman Seminar and at the Ninth Annual Model Senate. Sarbanes, who is a Greek immigrant, is also a Harvard graduate and has served on various committees during his two terms in the Senate.

Murray L. Weidenbaum spoke at the 3rd Annual B.A. Monaghan Lectureship in Economics. Dr. Weidenbaum is hailed as Reagan's first Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors and directs the Center for Study of American Business at Washington University, St. Louis.

One of our visitors was Willie Morris, author of NORTH TOWARD HOME and THE COURTING OF MARCUS DUPREE. Morris entertained those in attendance with tales of his childhood in Yazoo City, Mississippi, and his experiences in Texas and Oxford, and with his companions, one of the most notable being the late Truman Capote.

Bringing a different cultural bent was Glynne W.G. Wickham, Professor Emeritus at Bristol University, England. Wickham spoke to English, history, and theatre classes during his two-week stay at 'Southern. His visit was sponsored by the consortium of colleges on the Southeast that sponsors the British Studies at Oxford Program.

FALL PARTIES

Some years ago, the SGA-sponsored group Quest II began the tradition of hosting a three or four day party extravaganza, dubbed "Southern Comfort." In 1984, the big tradition was split into two traditions—an attempt to give the professors yet another event to condemn and give students something else to blame slipping GPAs.

Fall of 1984's Southern Comfort saw the easy listening of Muse the first night, and on the second night, the sound and lights of Ruckus graced the Party Barn's stage. No one enjoyed their talents more than our own Student Affairs secretary, Gwen Dill, and her husband, Chuck.

In addition to Fall Southern Comfort, the SGA sponsors numerous parties throughout the year. Many students took advantage of the ATSI's Halloween party that followed Quest II's movie on the quad. Good food and drinks boosted the spirits of students who were despondent about not being able to be with family at this joyous time.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

With the help of a $2.6 million grant from the Olin Foundation, construction began on the new science and mathematics building in August. If all goes according to schedule, the building should be ready by the fall of 1986. When finished the building will house an impressive computer system that will enable every student on campus to use the computer, not only in Computer Science courses, but in all facets of academic life. The facility will be one of the finest in the South, if not the entire country. This addition to the ever-expanding Birmingham—Southern curriculum once again justifies the college's place as a leader in liberal arts education throughout the United States.

CHRISTMAS ON THE HILLTOP

"At Christmas play and make good cheer, for Christmas comes but once a year." This quote by author Thomas Husser could qualify as a forecast for Birmingham-Southern during the holiday season. Christmas becomes a special time at 'Southern which is celebrated in many ways. The annual Carol Service at McCoy Methodist is always a hit. Television specials of our youth such as CHARLIE BROWN and THE GRINCH WHO STOLE CHRISTMAS, present sufficient reasons for having festive dorm parties. And of course, whether 14 inches or 14 feet tall, spruce or pine, real or plastic, right side up or upside down; the Birmingham-Southern Christmas Tree remains matchless.

GALA 7

GALA 7

GALA 7 was held on May 9-10; its purpose was not only to honor nationally recognized women, but also to raise scholarship funds for the Fine and Performing Arts Department.

The event opened with a Patron's Dinner at the South Central Bell Building on Thursday, and a fine arts showcase at the College Theatre followed by an Honorees Luncheon and news conference on Friday. GALA 7 was brought to a close with an elaborate awards dinner at the Civic Center Friday evening.

SPRING PARTIES

Like twisting paper clips drawn by a magnet, students were jerked out of their dorm rooms to the collage of music vibrating from the circus tent on the quad. Bands such as The Deltones, Surf, and the Lost in the Mail Band, not to mention The White Animals and the Extras, had students be-bopping all term long. Special party events such as Casino and Mr. Hilltopper provided an escape to an evening of fun, fantasy, and frolic. Combined, these and other calamities keep 'Southern students sane on a sometimes insane Hilltop.

the mood. After BSC's triumphant victory Friday night against the UAH Chargers, a full scale Party-Barn Throw Down was held featuring the White Animals.

GREEK WEEK

Greek Week at Birmingham-Southern: it has always been a time of intense competition, creativity, concentration of effort, and sweat, besides being a whole lot of fun. This year's Greek Week was no exception. Whether they were searching for obscure Scavenger Hunt items, giving blood, participating in athletic events, or singing their hearts and lungs out, 'Southern's Greeks held true to form in the spirit of Greek Week. In this spirit, competition was tough, to say the least. In Greek Games, there was a tie for the win between Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Alpha Tau Omega in the men's division. Alpha Omicron Pi was the women's winner. The highlight of Greek Week was Greek Sing. Zeta Tau Alpha was victorious again, and the men of Kappa Alpha held on to their Greek Sing crown. The Overall winners for Greek Week were Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Zeta Tau Alpha. Even though everyone could not win, everyone had a great time all week.

GRADUATION

GRADUATION

On Graduation Day, May 26, 1985, all went smoothly from processional to recessional. The invocation was given by Bishop Robert C. Morgan of Jackson, Miss., followed by the address by Mr. Henry C. Goodrich of SONAT, Inc. Mr. Goodrich's speech was basically a description of his business philosophies and how they relate to modern education, liberal education in particular. Following his speech was the presentation and awarding of degrees by Dean Penfield and Dr. Berte. With the completion of the singing of the alma mater, the benediction was given by Rev. B.B. Hughes of Birmingham. The Concert Band played as the graduates recessed outside the Methodist Center.

ORGANIZATIONS

GREEKS AT BSC

Greek life at Birmingham—Southern offers each individual student the opportunity to grow and learn in an environment conducive to personal development. By joining a Greek organization you are promising to give of yourself in order to promote a higher level of understanding and cooperation with your fellow man.

Being a Greek at BSC does not inhibit your individuality. On the contrary, Greek life enables you to share and grow with a group of friends who are concerned with helping you achieve your personal ambitions.

Greek life provides a social and recreational outlet through formal and informal gatherings and a competitive intramural program. More importantly, it offers the opportunity to make life-long friends and allows an individual to become involved in a leadership role in the fraternity, on the campus and in the community. Fraternities also have active scholarship programs.

Open to all students, members sponsor service projects for the campus and the community at large. It is affiliated with the Downtown Kiwanis Club.

RADIO FREE SOUTHERN

One of the new organizations on the Campus in 1984 was Radio Free Southern. The goal of this group is to start a radio station here at BSC. The group got off to a good start, with a petition drive, securing over 800 signatures of students to support their cause. The club hopes that soon the Campus will be twisting along to the sounds of Chubby Checker, The Mamma's and the Pappa's, and Devo.

WESLEY FELLOWSHIP

*The Wesley Fellowship is a student lead group that provides time for stories, sharing, and good humor. While the focus of the group changes from term to term, the consistency of the group lies in its care and concern for each other. The meetings are held weekly on Thursday nights, and are usually finished in time to watch Hill Street Blues. While most of the students are of the United Methodist Tradition, all students are welcome.*

PRESIDENT'S STUDENT SERVICE ORGANIZATION

THE YEAR

SPORTS

It starts in September and continues until May. The intramural season gives the students a chance to compete outside academics. Playing sports ranging from football to swimmeets, Intramurals gives everyone a chance to compete athletically. In Men's Intramurals, Sigma Alpha Epsilon began the Intramural Season by winning football, after football the men moved right into volleyball where Kappa Alpha came out on top. Interim provides the only break for the Intramural teams. In the spring Theta Chi took the Basketball Championship leaving only softball to decide the Men's Intramural Champion. Softball finally produced the Champions in May marking the end of the Intramural year. Sigma Alpha Epsilon took softball and won the closest race for the Championship in years.

The Ladies began the intramural season in the fall with the swimming competition, where Kappa Delta took the honors. The volleyball season followed with Zeta Tau Alpha winning the season. Women's Intramural also took a breather during Interim and resumed with basketball leaving the race for the overall Women's Intramural Title wide open. Zeta Tau Alpha was victorious in softball and won the Women's All Sports Trophy.

BSC CHEERLEADERS

ROWDY

Lucy Tatman, 1984-85

Rowdy, describes herself as "the epitomy of panther spirit." The job was tough, but Rowdy always came through. Although she worked mostly at basket-ball games, Lucy was present at a few soccer games, and even represented her sorority, Zeta Tau Alpha, for the Association for Retarded Citizens.

BSC CHEERLEADERS

The 1984-85 Birmingham-Southern Cheerleaders were chosen during tryouts this April. From a field of 12 energetic men and women, only 6 were chosen. The cheerleaders were active in the basketball program.

MEMBERS Tracy McCay, Rebecca DeWine, Kathy Holt, Leigh Ann Mathis, Rena Williams, Greg Boling, Lucy Tatman (Rowdy), Advisor: Mike Robinson

The Men's Tennis Team returned five solid players from the 1983-84 season, and also two outstanding recruits—Mark Viner, a freshman who was All-Conference last year at Lake Mary High School, and Barry Decatur, a junior transfer from Brandenburg, Kentucky. Returning senior Chris DuPont and junior Nik Makarenko, who was ranked in top 20 in the NAIA last year, teamed up to post a 16-5 mark as last season's number one doubles team. DuPont also proved a strong singles player, as did sophomore John Manser and juniors John Collar and John Watts.

TENNIS

The Women's Tennis Team had six returning players from last year's team, which finished 15-5, won the District 27 Title and earned a fourth straight trip to the NAIA National Tournament. Sheri Scholl, Julie Bushmiaer, and Linda Hershfelt, the senior members of the team, along with three sophomores, Heather Comfort, Nancy Griffith, Erin Kuehn, comprise the returning members. Comfort was the District Champion in the Number One position last year. Griffith won the Number Three spot in the District, and Scholl won the Number Five singles position. This experience and talent combined with the addition of Emily Dukes, and impressive transfer from the University of Alabama, provided an exciting year for the 1985 BSC Women's Tennis Team.

SOCCER

With the return of 11 experienced players and the arrival of six outstanding freshmen, 1984 was the coming-out party of Birmingham-Southern Soccer.

1984 marked only the second year of true intercollegiate soccer on The Hilltop. In his first season, 1983, Coach Preston Goldfarb fielded a young team which came on strong late in the year to win four of its final six matches and finish with a 4-11 record.

This year there was an air of excitement surrounding the young program at Birmingham-Southern. Improvements were made to the 'Southern Soccer Field, Coach Goldfarb put together a competitive and challenging 18 game schedule which included rivals Samford and UAB, and all 9 home games were televised on Birmingham Cable Television. Goldfarb also instituted a rigorous off-season training program and developed in his players an enthusiasm and a style of play which greatly enhanced their competitiveness in 1984. In short, the stage was set for an exciting beginning to another outstanding athletic tradition on The Hilltop.

Among those who returned from the 1983 squad were: junior Scott Bryant, the team's leading scorer a year ago and one of the captains on this year's squad; David York, a senior captain described by Goldfarb as "an intelligent player;"

SOCCER

Greg Bryant, a senior and one of the most consistent performers on the team; and Gray Byrum, a junior Goldfarb calls, "a one-hundred percent player." Joining the veterans were six freshmen who brought with them an impressive list of awards and accomplishments from their high school playing careers. Randy Riehl, from Huntsville High School, was twice a member of the Alabama Select Soccer Team and was rated one of the top goalkeepers in the Southeast; John Dalton, from Huntsville's Grissom High School, was an All-City performer who is capable of controlling from his sweeper back position; Jeff Sutherland is an All-State selection from Mountain Brook High School; Steve Rueve, from Indian Springs High School, is an Alabama Select Team player who was MVP of the 1982 Indian Springs Tournament; Kurt Senn is an outstanding all-around athlete who was All-City in four sports at Grissom; and David Nowak, who is also a freshman, was a starter for UAB before transferring last year.

SOCCER

PRESTON GOLDFARB Head Soccer Coach

Preston Goldfarb has been active in Birmingham-Southern Soccer programs for the past ten years and is in his second season as Birmingham-Southern's Head Soccer Coach.

Coach Goldfarb, along with two other soccer enthusiasts, established the Mid-State Youth Soccer Organization, the largest youth soccer program in Alabama, and from 1973-75, he served as soccer coach at Birmingham University School.

SOCCER

He attended the University of Oklahoma his freshman year on a basketball scholarship, returned to Birmingham to receive a bachelor of science degree from the University of Alabama in Birmingham. He has a master's of education from the University of Montevallo and a J.D. degree from the Birmingham School of Law.

Since July 1983, Coach Goldfarb has been working steadily on recruitment, promotion, and on the field training and coaching. Through his efforts, Birmingham-Southern Soccer is emerging as another winning team on the Hill-top.

SOCCER

"The game against UAB was probably the most important because they have beaten us in the past four years and they'd been calling us all sorts of names in the program. They said we were a bunch of losers, we couldn't play soccer, and our way stunk. We beat them 6-1, the biggest range we ever had."

SOCCER

"The first year was a joke. We only won two games. It's all turned around because of Coach Goldfarb. Next year it will be the best team in Birmingham, easy—that includes UAB and Samford."

JOE DEAN Head Basketball Coach

Coach Dean came to Birmingham-Southern from the University of Kentucky in 1983, and in his first season as head coach guided the Panthers to a 23-8 record and a trip to the NAIA National Tournament. The 30-year-old Louisiana native was named Coach of the Year in both the Southern States Conference and NAIA District 27 at the end of the season.

*Dean served as an assistant coach at Kentucky from 1977-1983 and during that period the Wildcats won the 1978 National Title, four Southeastern Conference championships and compiled an overall record of 145-42. Dean collaborated with Kentucky Head Coach Joe B. Hall to write KENTUCKY OFFENSIVE BASKETBALL which was published last year.*

Prior to his work at Kentucky, Coach Dean was a graduate assistant coach at Mississippi State University. He earned both a bachelor's and master's degree in physical education and was a three-year basketball letterman for the Bulldogs.

BASKETBALL

In addition to the many hours devoted to coaching, 'Southern's enthusiastic young coach puts in many hours off the court. He began the BSC Black Tie Club, a support group for BSC basketball. He also started the Birmingham-Southern Basketball Day School and, along with Associate Coach Roby Phillips, headed that successful camp last summer. Coach Dean has also involved himself in the community, and last year was selected by the Birmingham Jaycees as one of the Outstanding Young Leaders in the Birmingham Area.

Coach Joe Dean's pre-season comments on the 1984-1985 Panthers: "This should be an exciting team to watch and one that will improve as the season progresses. The inexperience of our new players is a question mark, but one which we can overcome through hard work, discipline, and dedication. I believe we have the kind of young men who will display those characteristics."

BASKETBALL

This year Coach Dean had the tough chore of finding replacements for six of his outstanding seniors who graduated in 1984. Those players finished their playing careers without ever losing a game in Bill Battle Coliseum. The return of three solid seniors, led by Academic All-American Alan Gruman, made the task somewhat easier. Gruman, a 6'9" center from Birmingham's John Carroll High School, was fourth in scoring in the '83-'84 season and third in rebounding. Gruman turned in his best performance when he scored 18 points and pulled down nine rebounds in a 92-83 victory over number one ranked West Virginia Wesleyan. Gruman showed marked improvement throughout the season and blocked six shots in the post-season Southern States Conference All-Star game.

The other two returning seniors also contributed a great deal to the Panther's success in the '84 season. Gary Clark, a 6'5" center with excellent jumping and shooting abilities, came off the bench to spark several victories during that season. Clark shot better than 52 percent for the year. Toviris Rooks, a 6'1" guard-forward from Birmingham's Holy Family School, won the "Panther Award" for his hustle and team spirit in the '84 season.

Redshirt freshman Paul McCrary, a 6'1" guard from Huntsville, worked hard during his year lay-off and showed tremendous improvement in the Birmingham Summer Basketball League.

BASKETBALL

Four juniors came out of tough junior college leagues in Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee. Kelvin Elston, a 6'0" guard from Chattanooga, was an All-Western Division selection in the Tennessee Junior college League and brought with him an exciting leaping ability that wooed fans in the Birmingham Summer Basketball League. Jody Jacobs, a 6'3" guard from Phenix City, Alabama, led his Chattahoochee Valley Junior College team to the State Junior College Finals where he was named to the five-man All-Tournament Team. John London, a 6'3" guard-forward from Brookhaven, Mississippi, was selected to the Mississippi-Louisiana All-Region Junior College Team. Sam Oates, a 6'4½" forward from Cherokee, Alabama, led Calhoun Community College to the National Junior College Tournament in his freshman year.

Two freshmen also made their presence known for BSC this season. Russell Smith, a 6'10" center from Pennington High School in Blountsville, Alabama, and Brody Black, a 6'6" forward from Athens, Alabama, added to the depth of the team.

The Panthers also had help from walk-ons Todd Nielson, a 6'4" guard from Creston, Iowa, and Landis Harris, a 6'3" guard—forward from Mountain Brook High School in Birmingham.

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

The Birmingham-Southern basketball team continued their winning streak to 39 games in a row in Bill Battle Coliseum. The Panthers have not lost on their home floor since January 30, 1982.

"The streak is something for us to take pride in and work to keep going," says Coach Dean. "Birmingham-Southern has a great basketball tradition and to keep a long winning streak going at home just continues to add to our tradition."

This season, the Panthers put the streak on the line 12 times, beating some of their fiercest competitors. One thing is certain. The Panthers are hard to beat at home.

BASKETBALL

BSC's BLACK TIE CLUB

The Birmingham-Southern College Black Tie Club began in 1983 as a support group for Panther basketball. More than 100 people demonstrated their support for BSC basketball by joining the organization. Black Tie members had the opportunity to hear some of the top names in basketball in the Southeast such as Murray Arnold, head coach at UT—Chattanooga; Alabama Coach Wimp Sanderson; University of South Alabama Coach Mike Hanks; Auburn's Sonny Smith and Vanderbilt's C.M. Newton. At this year's BTC Awards Banquet, members had the opportunity to hear Coach John Wooden, former head coach at UCLA.

BASKETBALL

The 1984-85 edition of the Birmingham-Southern College basketball team continued the winning tradition on the Hilltop. The squad was almost completely new with only two players returning from last year. The team was exciting to watch as they exhibited good outside shooting, strong inside play, exceptional leaping ability, and aggressive defense. The Panthers ranked among the conference leaders in several statistical categories including field goal percentage, rebounds per game, points allowed per game, and field goal percentage allowed.

A major strength of the team was balanced scoring with all five starters averaging in double figures. The best point production came from the guard positions with John London, Kelvin Elston, and Jody Jacobs leading the way. Alan Gruman and Sam Oates provided inside support and accounted for more than twenty points per game. Each of the five starters lead the team in scoring for at least two games during the season.

The Panthers played outstanding defense throughout the year allowing opponents just over 40 points per game. Good size and quickness made full-court pressure and man-to-man coverage effective defense weapons.

BASKETBALL

The string of consecutive wins at home grew to almost forty games during the season. Bill Battle Coliseum is gaining a reputation as one of the most difficult places in the country for the visiting team to win.

The 1984-1985 Panthers used good talent, hard work, and aggressive play to produce another successful campaign and continue the winning tradition of BSC basketball

BASKETBALL

"When I get out on the floor at a home game, losing doesn't seem as possible as on the road. I don't feel as if we are going to lose when we play a game at home. If it's a close game, I know we'll pull it out. We've been doing it for three years and it's not going to stop now. The streak doesn't cause pressure, it relaxes us more."

BASKETBALL

"The key to winning is caring about your teammates. We have unity on this year's team. It's just five guys out there working together. I don't consider our team as having just one star. We work together as the star is the whole team."

GARY RANDALL Baseball Coach

Coach Randall returned to Birmingham-Southern last year following four years as an assistant to Roy Mewbourne at Vanderbilt.

A 1978 graduate of BSC, Randall was the last athlete to participate in both basketball and baseball at Birmingham-Southern. He was a pitcher on Coach Mewbourne's 1977 and 1978 teams and played forward for Coach Murray Arnold on the 1977 BSC basketball team.

A native of St. Petersburg, Florida, Randall attended Boca Ciega High School where he lettered three years in both basketball and baseball. He attended St. Petersburg Junior College his freshman and sophomore years and was named to the Florida Junior College All-Star Baseball team and the All-Division III Basketball squad. He was a second leading scorer in Florida junior college basketball during his sophomore season.

At Birmingham-Southern Randall was a Dean's List Student and received the Tom S. Yielding Memorial Scholarship which is awarded to outstanding scholar athletes. He was named to the NAIA All-District 27 Baseball team following his senior season.

BASEBALL

After graduating from BSC he served as a graduate assistant baseball coach at the University of Tennessee. He received his master's degree in physical education from Tennessee in 1979.

During his four years at Vanderbilt as pitching coach, the Commodores won 110 and lost 88 and won the Southern Conference Championship in 1981. Three Vandy pitchers were drafted by professional baseball teams during Coach Randall's time at the school.

In addition to guiding BSC to its 16th consecutive winning season and 13th straight District 27 bid in his first season, Coach Randall began working to improve all areas of the baseball program last year. He started the BSC Baseball Diamond Club, which is the support group for 'Southern Baseball, organized an annual BSC Alumni game and started the BSC All-Star Baseball Camp. Also under his direction as head coach, improvements have been made to the baseball field and surrounding facilities, the BSC Media Guide has been expanded and improved and the Diamond Darlings, BSC's team of batgirls, have been added to the program. Birmingham-Southern also hosted the High School All-Star game and the Junior College Fall Baseball Tournament last year.

Last season the Birmingham-Southern lineup included seven players who hit .300 or better and as a team the Panthers completed the year hitting a very healthy .312 clip. But at the season's close Head Coach Gary Randall faced the task of having to replace six of those big bats as well as two starting pitchers. In all, BSC lost 14 players to graduation from the 27-19 squad which finished second in the Southern States Conference.

After such a devastating blow most coaches would quickly term the upcoming season a rebuilding year. But Randall, who entered his second term as a head coach, was a bit more optimistic following a successful recruiting year and was even ready to say that the 1985 Panthers had more potential than last year's group. BSC was faced with finding replacements this season for All-District 27 pitcher Kirk Barnard, who lead the team with six wins and 72 innings pitched, and Lou Griffey, who had a team-high 52 strikeouts. Returning to the mound will be Derek Sharp, 5-2 last season with the lowest ERA on the team (2.26), and John Hackett, who was 5-3 as a starter last season.

Joining Hackett and Sharp in the starting rotation was junior col- lege transfers Joe Bend and Mark North. Bend was 9-0 last season with a 1.53 earned run average for Triton Junior College in Illinois. Bend impressed the BSC Coaches during the fall season with his curve ball and outstanding control. North was 9-3 for Jefferson State last year and fanned 89 batters in 69 innings. According to Randall, the big left-hander "has all of the tools to be a top-notch performer." Two talented freshmen, Daren Burns from Gardendale and Jeff Prozan from Toney, Alabama, also contributed to the team. Burns, considered by many scouts as the top high school pitcher in the Birmingham area last year, compiled a 23-6 career record at Gardendale High School and was MVP of the state tournament. Prozan made significant strides during the fall and the lefthander from Sparkman saw action this year as a spot starter and reliever. Two players who were counted on in the outfield and to pull mound duty this year. Dale Bobbs and Terry Sloan, both hard-throwing righthanders, were used as relievers when the need arose.

Academic All-American catcher Dale Nelson, the team's leading hitter last season with a .393 batting average, returned in 1985 to close out a stellar four-year career. Nelson earned All-District honors for the second straight year as he tied for the league lead in hitting. A trio of capable back-up catchers allowed Nelson to spend time in the outfield and as the designated hitter. Mark Mascola from Aquinas Junior College in Nashville has excellent skills behind the plate and added power to the BSC lineup. Mascola also saw time as a designated hitter. Jeff Soles from Dekalb Junior College possessed the strongest arm of the catchers and continued to improve as a hitter. Trent Lowery improved steadily behind the plate since his arrival as a freshman and continued improvement in 85.

Co-Captain Ricci Lattanzi, sidelined last season with a hand injury, was switched to first base for the 1985 season. A fierce competitor, Lattanzi hit .282 last season in his 39 plate appearances. Marc Mullins, an outstanding fielder and a .400 hitter last season at Wallace Community College in Dothan, nailed down the starting slot at second base. Backing Mullins up was Richard Chen, who was the fastest player on the team, was counted on heavily last season as a pinch and designated runner. Jon Massey, a transfer student from the University of Tennessee, stepped in to fill the third base position. Massey brought lefthanded power to the lineup. Gil Grimes, a senior, provided back-up help at third base.

Van Shumaker, an excellent fielder who hit .313 for Chattanooga State Community College last season, held down the shortstop position.

Co-Captain Scott Sibley was the only returner in the outfield. Sibley hit .258 and tied for the team lead in walks last year with 33. Battling for the other two outfield positions was Dale Dobbs, who started in the infield last season before being injured; Rocky Farmer, a .287 hitter last season at Chatahoochee Valley Community College who stole 34 of 36 bases, and Terry Sloan, who hit .388 with 8 homers and 37 runs batted in last season in junior college. Farmer can also play in the infield and did some this year. Nelson also helped in the outfield.

1985 was not the best season for the BSC Panthers, but it was a good rebuilding year. Next year's team promises to be even better!

SOUTHSIDE

While the downtown areas of many large cities are grimy, dangerous, and unappealing, Birmingham's recently revitalized Southside section contradicts this image, offering the public a clear, pleasant place to go for shopping, food, and entertainment. To Birmingham residents, and Birmingham-Southern students, in particular, Southside is an institution. Although Five Points South is a few miles away, most people find it well worth the drive. Many residents from the Hilltop can be found ending a rough week of studying at Louie Louie's, Birmingham's Mecca for local bands. And if the band isn't entertaining enough, most will find it highly amusing to stand near the door and watch area high school students unsuccessfully try to gain entrance with fake I.D.'s. Another popular weekend attraction is the jazz pianist at Joe's, easily Southside's most atmospheric bar. Both Clyde Houston's and Rube Burrow's also entertain the BSC crowd, offering lunch, dinner, and famous Long Island Teas, while Kaoute's Chinese fast food remains a BSC late night favorite. On a warm spring afternoon, one can find many 'Southerner's delighting in Stillman's many flavors of ice cream. Another popular Southside nightspot, the Courtyard, closed its doors during the school year, and many diehard fans from 'Southern migrated to Louie's to console themselves with a batch of Happy Hour specials. Shortly thereafter, however, the old club reopened and is maintaining its popularity under the name of Austin's. All of these are just a few of the places that make up Southside, the home of partying for Birmingham's upstanding citizens of tomorrow.

A HILLTOP WINTER

A HILLTOP WINTER

The phrase "what a difference a day can make" was certainly applicable to January 19, 1985. Compared to normal winter standards, it was a beautiful spring day. Then at 9:30 pm the Alberta Clipper passed through Birmingham. By 1:00 am the snow began falling, and the temperature had already dropped to fourteen degrees, thirty-eight degrees lower than earlier that afternoon. It eventually went down to two degrees below zero. On Sunday, Birmingham-Southern students awoke to a one-inch blanket of snow covering the ground and a high temperature of only seven degrees. With gusts of wind over twenty miles per hour, the wind chill factor sank to a frightfully low thirty-three degrees below. The actual temperature went to six degrees below zero, the coldest temperature recorded in Birmingham in this century. Classes were cancelled, to the delight of students, who obviously enjoyed their day of playing in the snow.

RUNNING SMOOTHLY

Every prospective student who visits the Birmingham-Southern campus sees a small, well-ordered world that seems to function by itself with ease. Once the student arrives at 'Southern, however, he discovers that this order and efficiency is the product of more effort than is apparent to the outside world. For every apparent to the outside world. For every service offered by BSC, there is a multitude of people working behind the scenes to provide it to the students. BSC hires hundreds of work-study students to help keep things running smoothly in every academic area, every building, and every administrative office. Maintenance workers keep the campus clean and beautiful, while staff members in BSC's many administrative offices handle the necessary red-tape of offering a quality education. Everyone acts as a part of the whole machine, helping to make the entire system work more efficiently. From President Neal Berte to the workers who cut the grass on campus, every Birmingham-Southern staff member cooperates with the other members, students, and faculty to make the Hilltop a better place for us all to work and live
